Harry Davidson. A novelty of an entire new color. A rich mullbery, tipped gold, shading to a golden yellow at center................................................................. .50

Hortulanus Fiet. Salmon pink, good flower................................................................. .35

Jane Selby. Exceptionally large flower of a delicate mauve pink, great substance and beautiful form, on strong stems high above the foliage; a prize winner................................................................. .75

John Lewis Childs. One of the best fancy novelties. Yellow, suffused, splashed and striped with brilliant scarlet, and generally tipped white................................................................. 1.00

Kittie Dunip. Is not only a beautiful flower, characteristic which endears it to a dahlia grower. Blooms freely all season, has excellent keeping qualities, long firm stems, immense size, and great substance. If this dahlia did not have all these admirable qualities, the coloring would make it popular, as it is of the delightful shade of the American Beauty rose. The petals are broad, but have a slight tendency to roll, the long stems are practically without leaves and we recommend it highly for commercial purposes................................................................. 2.50

King of Commerce. Golden bronze; a good lasting cut-flower for florist use; long stiff stem, free bloomer................................................................. 3.00

Le Grand Manitou. A large flower; white, streaked with violet purple................................................................. .35

Mabel B. Taft. 1920 introduction. 1919 Gold Medal for the best 50 blooms of one variety. A beautiful decorative of yellow, suffused with pinkish apricot in the center and shading deeper toward the outer petals. Very large flowers with fine long stiff stems. Lasts well as a cut-flower................................................................. 1.50

Mrs. Carl Salbach. The 1918 sensational decorative dahlia of great size which has been a success throughout the entire country. Mauve pink in color, showing up well in the garden. The immense blooms are held erect on extra long strong stems. A perfect exhibition as well as cut-flower. The best in its color for the florist trade. A gold medal variety................................................................. 1.50

12 of the finest Dahlias grown, our selection. .................. $5.00

CULTIVATION OF DAHLIAS

Dahlias are easily grown, requiring no special soil, or treatment, to bring them to perfection. They love an open sunny location, but succeed in partial shade. Prepare the soil thoroughly by digging 12 to 18 inches deep, possibly in the fall and then again in the spring, before planting.

If the soil is poor, work in some well rotted stable manure, or artificial fertilizer, but don’t overdo this.

Dig the holes 3 feet apart, and about 6 inches deep; drive a stout stake in each hole, and place bulbs close to the stake, eyes showing upward, and cover with two or three inches of fine soil, leaving the hole to be filled after the plant comes up.

Plant any time between April 1st and June 15th.

When the plants have made their third set of leaves, cut out the top, to make them branch.

The most important thing from now on is hoeing and cultivating the soil, until the buds appear; then give the beds a good mulching of manure, to keep the ground moist; and water the plants thoroughly once or twice a week.

If red spider or thrips appear, spray with a nicotine solution.

To have large blooms, it is absolutely necessary to disbud, leaving only one bud to each shoot; but leave two young sprouts near the base of each stem, so as to insure a new crop of blooms. Dahlias will continue to bloom until the frost kills the tops; the tubers are dug and stored in a dry cellar or basement, cover them with dry sand, soil or sawdust, to keep from shriveling. Divide the tubers in the spring after the eyes show plainly, being careful that each tuber has an eye. Cover them again and keep dry until planted.

HOW TO KEEP CUT BLOOMS OF DAHLIAS

Cut the flowers in the evening if possible, and before the pollen has too well developed. Burn the ends of the stems on a gas flame; or better still, for exhibition purposes, dip ends of stems in boiling water for about 12 seconds and immediately plunge in fresh cold water. Place in cool place or out of doors for the night.

Should dahlias be picked in the day time, put the stems in a pitcher containing three inches of boiling water and leave there 15 minutes. Then remove to a deep vase of fresh, cold water. The less foliage the better. Wilted flowers may often be revived in the same manner.
To Our Customers

We take great pleasure in presenting you with our new Dahlia Catalog for 1922. We do not list a large collection, but such varieties only that have been selected for their superiority in color, perfection of form, length and stiffness of stem, continuous blooming, etc. We list only novelties, and standard varieties of real merit, based on actual experience and personal observation.

We specialize on pot-grown Bulbs, grown under the most favorable climatic conditions. They will produce for you more perfect blooms, than the field-grown tuber.

Bulbs and green plants will give equally good results.

We supply bulbs after November 15th, pot-grown plants from May 15th to September.

ORDER EARLY. As orders are received stock will be reserved and sent at proper time.

IN COMPARING OUR PRICES with other Dahlia lists you will find it pays to buy from the grower direct.

TERMS. Prices in this Catalog are postpaid first, second and third zone. Cash with order or in advance of shipment.

We Guarantee all bulbs true to name, and cheerfully replace any that should prove otherwise. Kindly notify us at once. Orders are carefully filled from selected pot-grown Bulbs. We do not substitute unless requested.
